Ecological Battle Brewing Over Schoharie Creek

By JON POWERS

HUNTER

There's a battle brewing in this Greene County community that has caught the attention of fishermen and ecologists throughout the Catskill Mountain region.

It revolves around a plan to withdraw 288,000 gallons of water a day from the Schoharie Creek, and to replace it with treated sewage, effluent and storm drainage.

The water is needed to service a proposed 150 unit condominium townhouse development at the base of Hunter Mountain, which, in itself, is fodder for a whole new ecological battle. The 288,000 gallons of water needed each day for the 1,000 residents of the proposed development would, it is estimated, reduce the volume of the creek in that area by 50 per cent.

The battle lines have already been drawn. On one side is the Hunter Water Supply Corp. On the other side is Theodore Gordon Flyfishers, Inc. and Trout Unlimited. Keeping a watchful eye on the proceedings is the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.

If any other stream were involved, this dispute probably would never have reached such magnitude. But the Schoharie Creek is considered, by many fishermen, to be among the finest trout streams in New York State.

The two groups attempting to block the plans contend that the fishlife and natural environment of the stream will be irreparably damaged by the loss of water and addition of sewage.

The water corporation, however, denies that the stream's ecology will be destroyed if its plans are put into operation.

The divisions are so great, in fact, that the department of Environmental Conservation has stepped in to mediate the dispute. Robert Drew, a state hydrologist with the Bureau of Water Regulations, has presided over two hearings to date. The last was held Thursday; the next will be held Aug. 21.

Fishermen throughout Eastern New York, and especially in the Catskill region, are wont to compare this case with the Storm King nuclear power plant hassle. Franz Zaborowski of Lake Katrine, a member of Trout Unlimited, is one of them.

Special

"The Schoharie is a fragile thing," said Zaborowski, "it's highly susceptible to high temperatures and low water level. It's one of the major watersheds of the Catskills. This plan could destroy it."

Zaborowski maintains that the proposed project could "change the whole environment of the stream." And he says that "financial concerns" are the only motive for the plan.

"This case concerns more than just the Schoharie," he added. "It could affect the future of every stream in the state."

The water company, naturally, takes a different view of things. The Freeman spoke recently with Orville Slutsky, vice-president of the Hunter Water Supply Corp. and a member of the Slutsky family that owns Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl.

Slutsky is unequivocal about the whole thing. He says that the project, if designed and instituted properly, will not have any effect on the environment of the stream.

But Slutsky's major complaint is that his firm has not even been given the opportunity to develop definite plans for the project. He would like to see preliminary approval given, so his engineers can draw up the necessary plans. Then, he'd be willing to present those plans to the "flycasters, flywaters and bird watchers" to prove that there would be no ecological damage.

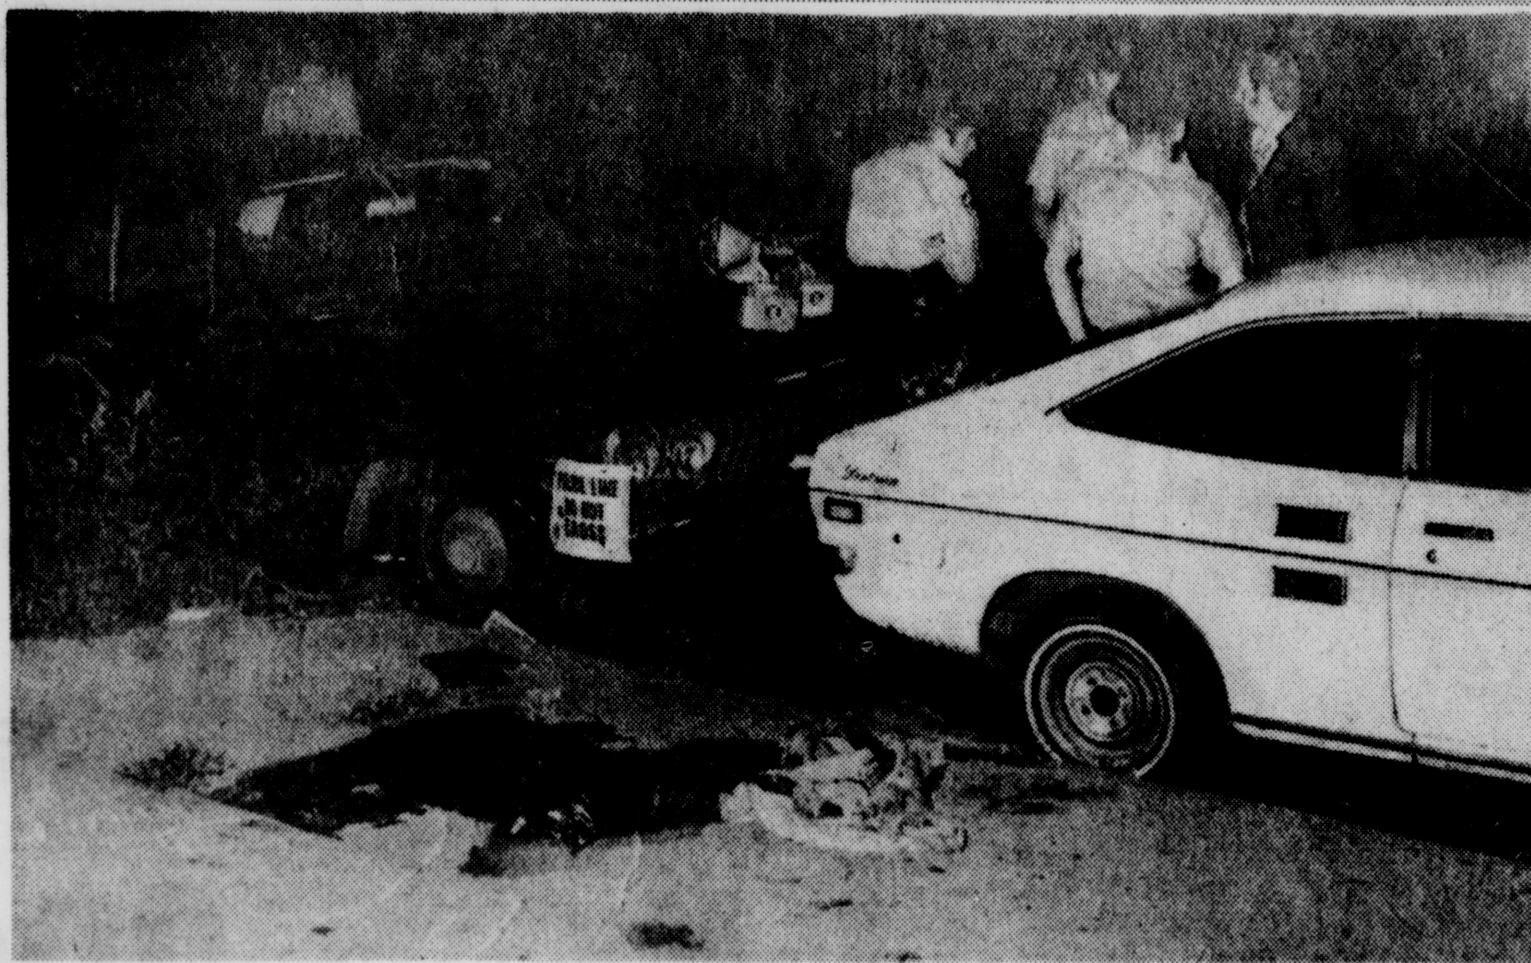

That, however, has not been the case. Slutsky testified for five hours at Thursday's hearing, and says he was "badgered." He contends that the whole thing could have been settled in a day, but instead will now "drag on" for two months.

"I may be forced to withdraw the plans if this continues much longer," said Slutsky, "and sacrifice the public good for the fear of a few fly catchers. But, one way or the other, the people will get their water, even if they have to go down to the creek and draw it in buckets."

What if the plans are withdrawn? "A lot of people will go thirsty," he said.

Slutsky, and the Hunter Mountain Water Corp. must prove that their plans will not upset the ecology of the stream. And Slutsky frankly admits that his prospects for success are not too good. And that, certainly, delights thousands of avid fishing enthusiasts from Ulster County, and the entire Northeast.

STREET SLAYING—Police diagram on a bloodstained sidewalk in the Crown Heights section of New York,

Mob Boss Eboli...15th Gangland Victim

NEW YORK (AP) — Sifting through evidence, police by authorities as the head of the Profaci Cosa Nostra family slaying of top Mafia figure Thomas "Tommy Ryan" Eboli

Included in that string of killings was the Little Italy clam bar rubout of Joseph "Crazy Joe" Gallo last April.

Eboli, 61, was found sprawled on a sidewalk early Sunday in the quiet Crown Heights section of Brooklyn, far from his usual haunts in New Jersey and Manhattan. There were five bullet holes in his face and neck.

The killing was at least the 15th gangland slaying since the June 28, 1971 wounding of Joseph A. Colombo Sr., identified near a truck that went by at the time. The truck, apparently stolen, was found about a block away abandoned with its engine running.

Police also found a stolen car with an m-3 machine gun in its rear seat. The gun had not been fired and detectives theorized that it had been a backup weapon.

The car Eboli had been in was gone when police arrived and they broadcast an alarm for the vehicle. In the right hand pocket of Eboli's jacket was more than $2,000 in cash, mostly in $100 bills.

Despite the strong indications that Eboli had been "hit" by mob gunmen, detectives said there was no evidence that he had been feuding lately with fellow members of his Genovese underworld family.

"Most of the time when these fellows get in trouble with each other, it's because they're starting to get greedy—and there was no sign that Tommy was doing that," said one official.

Federal authorities have identified Eboli as an underworld boss in the Genovese family while the late Vito Genovese himself, known as the "Boss of Bosses," was in prison for bankrolling a narcotics smuggling operation.

After Genovese's death in prison in 1969, Eboli's poor health prevented him from gaining the top spot and reportedly much of the family's traditional territory was siphoned off by other families.

Police said that Eboli's own car may have been used as a getaway vehicle following his murder Sunday on a quiet street in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn.

Detectives said they plan to call on other key underworld figures for questioning.

Eboli had an arrest record dating from 1933 to 1966, but never served time in prison. He was convicted once for disorderly conduct and twice for assault, and fined in each case.

He reportedly held interests in gambling, policy and narcotics rackets, and was attempting, with other alleged underworld figures including Carmine "The Snake" Persico, to reassert control over waterfront activities. His legitimate enterprises included record companies, a bagel bakery, and a vending machine company.

Dakota today for a vacation. As the antiwar debate is expected to continue for some time, assistant Senate Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd has scheduled a "tandem" work arrangement that will allow the Senate to debate the foreign aid bill for several hours each day and then devote the rest of its time to other measures.

The Senate also had under consideration today a bill that would increase the $1.60 per hour minimum wage to $2.20 during the next two years. The House already has passed a bill that would boost it to $2 over two years.

The House expected to take up routine bills early in the week while waiting for the Rules Committee to clear a $2.58 billion authorization bill for military defense construction. A floor vote on that bill is planned Thursday.

Spokesmen for the House Select Committee on Crime said Frank Sinatra was expected to appear during the week at its hearing into the role of organized crime in horse racing.

IRA Rules Out Cease-Fire As N. Ireland Death Toll Rises

BELFAST (UPI)—Thousands of Roman Catholics camped in two school houses today, refusing to return to their bloodshed. The death toll since the IRA's Provisional wing called off its two-week-old cease-fire July 9 stands at 36. At least 6,000 Catholic men, women and children spent the five civilians, two soldiers night in two schools in Belfast's Catholic Andersonstown area, and a policeman died in weekend violence in Northern Ireland. It brought to 446 the number of fatalities in the province's three years of bloodshed.

At least 6,000 Catholic men, women and children spent the five civilians, two soldiers night in two schools in Belfast's Catholic Andersonstown area, and a policeman died in weekend violence in Northern

They left their homes in the Lenadon housing development Sunday to protest the presence of hundreds of soldiers in the district.

Some returned to their homes overnight but the exact total was not known. The army estimated that "the majority" had returned to their homes by daybreak.

The troops moved into the neighborhood Sunday and were ordered to remain there as part of the army's new get-tough tactics against gunmen operating from Catholic districts in the city.

The Catholics accused the army of endangering innocent civilians living in the area by turning it into a battlefield. They said they would not return until the troops withdrew.

Led by Father Jack Fitzsimons, a local priest, the Catholics streamed from the area carrying blankets, food and banners saying: "We want our homes. We want peace."

"We are no longer prepared to be used as hostages of war," Father Fitzsimons told onlookers. "We are showing the world we've had enough."

In Londonderry, Martin McGuinness, leader of Provisional forces there, issued a statement Sunday saying: "There is no chance of another truce and the bombings will go on."

He said the goal of Provisionals, who have already devastated the city's downtown area, is to "cripple the city economically."

In Belfast, troops sealed off the capital's downtown district with barbed wire barricades and armored vehicles in anticipation of a concerted IRA bombing campaign. The army searched all persons entering the area and closed it off to most traffic.

In Sunday's fatalities, Francis McKeon, 43, a Catholic ice cream vendor popular with children in the Lenadon area, died of gunshot wounds inflicted by troops Saturday. The army said troops fired at McKeon when he stepped from a truck carrying a submachine gun. Catholic residents in the area said he was unarmed.

In the day's other bloodshed, two soldiers died when a landmine exploded under their patrol vehicle near Crossmaglen.

On the Irish Republic border, sniper fire killed a Protestant policeman and Catholic Tobias Molloy, 18, died in a clash between rock-throwing youths and troops in the border town of Strabane.

Calley Retrial Sought; Cite 'Missing' Witness

LT. WILLIAM CALLEY
(UPI Telephoto)

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Lt. William Calley's defense team says it will seek a new trial based on the finding of a "missing" GI witness to the My Lai massacre.

"We still have work to do on putting together the evidence and working out more leads," said George Latimer, chief defense counsel during the military trial that ended with Calley's conviction 16 months ago.

A former Army private, identified as Charles Dean "Butch" Gruver of Stotesbury, Mo., was located last week. Gruver served under Calley when more than 100 unarmed civilians were killed in the Vietnamese hamlet of May Lai. Latimer said Sunday that he sought Gruver during Calley's court-martial and that a new trial would be based on the ex-soldier's testimony.

Preliminary work would take a week to 10 days and the petition for a new trial would be filed within a "reasonable" time after that, said Latimer, a former Utah Supreme Court Justice and judge on the U.S. Court of Military Appeals in Washington, D.C.

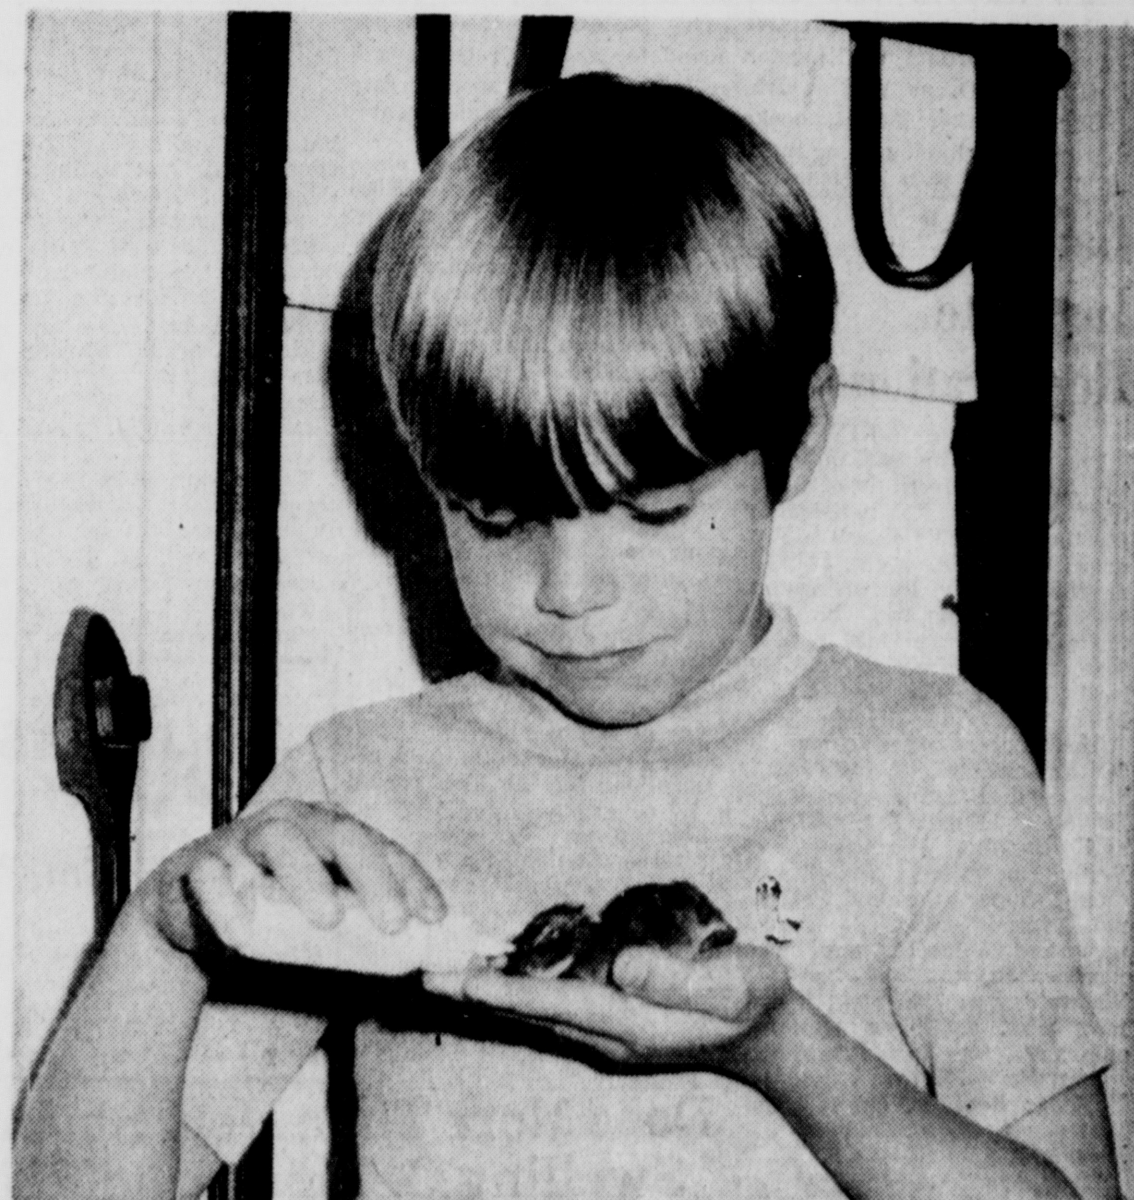

Gruver recently told an Oklahoma City newspaper that he had been available to testify more than a year ago, but was not asked to do so. Calley has been under house arrest at Ft. Benning, Ga., since his conviction. He had been sentenced to life imprisonment, but the time was reduced to 20 years. Appeal of the conviction is pending before the U.S. Army Court of Military Review in Washington, D.C.

Latimer, in an interview in his Salt Lake City office several months prior to the Calley trial, blamed extensive television and press exposure of the war for creating the My Lai incident.

"The deep trauma of war previously felt by men in the field is being felt in living rooms all across America," Latimer said in the interview, conducted in the summer of 1970.

"If the people had a solidifying cause, they would do more fighting and less complaining," he said. "Atrocities have occurred in all wars past, but people were too busy fighting to pay much attention to them."

Survival Tactics for Baby Rabbit

Five-year-old John Wojciechowski introduces five-day-old bunny to miniature nursing bottle in attempt to save the little orphan. The rest of the brood was killed by a dog and the lone survivor is being cared for by the Wojciechowski family at its 25 Staples Street home. Mrs. John Wojciechowski said that they have been feeding the tiny bundle of fur with an eye dropper and plain milk. However his hunger pangs have increased to the point where they are going to change the menu to baby cereal in milk from the bottle. By now he has become very much a part of the family even though he has no official name as yet. "He's just got to make it now," Mrs. Wojciechowski said, noting that even though his eyes aren't open yet, he is becoming quite lively. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Tropical Storm Agnes Victims

Temporary Jobs for Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a effort to relieve suffering caused by tropical storm Agnes, 40,000 persons forced out of work by the Eastern flooding last month will be hired for temporary recovery programs at a cost of $28.5 million, the Labor Department has announced.

"This action is being taken in accordance with President Nixon's orders to relieve suffering in the flood-stricken areas as swiftly as possible," Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said Sunday.

Hodgson said more than 100,000 workers in New York,

Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and Florida—the states hardest hit by the devastating floods—have filed claims for disaster unemployment compensation or unemployment insurance benefits as a result of the storm. He said figures from West Virginia and the District of Columbia were not included and would push the total even higher.

"Special efforts are being made to speed and insure full unemployment compensation for workers who have lost their jobs due to the disaster,"

Hodgson said. He said temporary offices where persons may file disaster unemployment compensation claims have been set up at 28 locations. Some are operating seven days a week.

The $28.5 million will be used to finance two special relief efforts:

—Up to 20,000 out-of-work persons will be hired at a cost of $8.5 million for "cleanup projects."

—$20 million will be made available to the affected state and local governments to hire another 20,000 persons for related public service jobs lasting about eight weeks.

Nixon has asked Congress to appropriate $1.7 billion for emergency flood relief. If approved, it would be the largest allocation of its kind.

Hodgson said the special funds for the Labor Department programs, however, would be taken from existing appropriations and would be available immediately.

Bell Notes Sewage, Roadwork Funds

State Money for Ulster

KINGSTON—Assemblyman H. Clark Bell today expressed satisfaction at the recent granting of Pure Waters Program aid to local communities and the granting of funds for emergency highway reconditioning in Ulster County.

"A total of $942,690 has been approved by Gov. Rockefeller for operation and maintenance of water pollution control facilities," Bell said. "Of that amount, $2,153.18 was awarded to Town of Ulster, Whittier Sewer District, $947.63 to the Town of Shawangunk, Wallkill Sewer District, and $12,271.09 to the Kingston City Sewer Treatment Plant to cover money already expended for the calendar year 1970."

Annual grants, provided under the direction of the Department of Environmental Conservation, provide one-third of the direct cost involved in operating and maintaining municipal wastewater treatment plants that conform to state standards.

"Environmental quality is increasingly important and of great concern to New York State residents," Assemblyman Bell stated. "The Pure Waters program has been highly successful in aiding communities who wish to establish or maintain high standards of waste treatment. Municipalities that do so can count on the state's one-third re-payment of costs."

Concerning the highway reconditioning work, Bell commented that "Highway safety has become a vitally important aspect of today's life style. Essential to this safety is the proper maintenance of roads so that the motorist and pedestrian alike will be properly protected."

Bell's statement came in response to information that he has received that the Emergency Highway Reconditioning and Preservation Fund is about to implement the reconditioning, cleaning and painting of the bridge on Route 55 in Wawarsing, and the reconditioning of Routes 42 and 214 for 6.1 miles in the Town of Shandaken. Both highways will be resurfaced with asphalt from Route 28 northerly to the Greene County line and pavement sections less than 20 feet wide will be widened to 20 feet. Bridges along the routes will be improved as will the bridge on Routes 9W and 32 in the Village of Saugerties, Ulster County.

"These projects," Bell explained, "are part of a series of reconditioning projects made possible by the Emergency Highway Reconditioning and Preservation Fund which was approved by the Legislature this past session. The projects which will benefit from this fund and the partially matching Federal aid would not have been possible under the Department of Transportation's restricted regular budget this year," he concluded.

Bell also told of copies of the New York State Bond Bank Agency law and chapter amendment sponsored by him that was signed into law recently by the governor and copies of which have been sent to all town supervisors, village mayors and school district superintendents in Ulster County.

"The bond bank can be a successful marketing vehicle for controlling local indebtedness," Assemblyman Bell stated, "by allowing our fiscally strong municipalities to join in mutual cooperation with smaller units of local government having lower credit ratings or little experience in the field.

"I have, therefore, mailed a copy of the law to the supervisors, mayors, and school district superintendents in Ulster County who are concerned with bond issues and I have recommended that they explore the money saving possibilities which voluntary participation in the bond bank offers," Bell concluded.

Industrial Agency Discussed

WALLKILL—State legislators and officials joined with local officials to discuss creation of an Industrial Development Agency for the Town of Shawangunk at a recent meeting in the Wallkill Middle School.

Assemblyman H. Clark Bell of Woodstock, who sponsored the enabling legislation, Assemblyman Benjamin Gilman of Middletown, James Hardy of the New York State Department of Commerce, and Harry Copant of the state's Industrial Development Agency were among the speakers who addressed the 70 persons in the audience, outlining the advantages they said the town would realize from the formation of the agency.

Although Supervisor Francis Garrison had laid down ground rules for the meeting that barred non-residents from participating, he gave George Majestic, supervisor of the neighboring Town of Gardiner, three minutes to express his opposition to creation of the agency.

"I wanted to give everyone a chance to be heard," Garrison said of his decision to let Majestic speak.

Majestic has been outspoken in his opposition to creation of the agency and earlier had challenged Ralph Brach, chairman of the Shawangunk Planning Board and an Ulster County legislator, to a debate on the merits of the plan.

Garrison said that the next step would be for the town board to consider formation of the agency, but that it would be on the agenda at Monday night's meeting.

One of our councilmen is away on vacation and I want everyone to have a chance to express himself," Garrison said.

"We have until Sept. 1 to name a five-man board for the agency if the town board votes to create it."

Impressed by UCCC Campus

STONE RIDGE—Seven visiting German teachers have toured the Stone Ridge campus of Ulster County Community College and left impressed.

"They were enthused with the educational program which they observed at the community college," said President George B. Erbstein, "and would like to try some of our innovations in their schools in Germany."

The seven toured the campus and observed summer sessions classes in operation and spoke with staff members.

Dr. Erbstein explained to the teachers that because Ulster has open admissions policy, it stresses the importance of good teaching, advisement and the need for the development of comprehensive educational programming.

Innovations which the group explored at the college included an auto-tutorial laboratory, the developmental skills center, the use of various kinds of educational technology including closed circuit television and the dial access retrieval laboratory as well as techniques in independent and individual study.

President Erbstein told the teachers that the college utilizes the community as a laboratory for student study.

"We, as a community college, have become a center for educational and cultural activities for residents of the county," he said. "Our faculty, students and staff in turn go out into the community and offer their services to the community."

The group is staying with local families in the Stone Ridge-Accord area and will remain here until about July 22.

The trip was arranged through the Experiment in International Living operating out of Putney, Vt. It is a non-profit organization which has conducted such exchange programs since 1932.

Authorized organizations get a special rate of 1.7 cents per piece, with no total mailing figures specified.

All matter not in section 134.121, and not first or second class mail, costs 26 cents per pound or fraction thereof to mail at regular rates. The special rate for authorized organizations is 11 cents per pound or fraction thereof. These rates are set by section 134.122.

The minimum rate for items falling under section 134.122, for the first 250,000 pieces mailed during a calendar year is 4.8 cents at the regular rate. The special rate for authorized organizations is 1.7 cents per piece.

Japanese May Get Life for Airport Massacre

Death Penalty Waived for Terrorist

ZRIFIN, Israel (UPI)—A military tribunal convicted Kozo Okamoto today for his part in the Lod Airport massacre, but the prosecution waived the death penalty and asked for life in prison.

The military court convicted the young Japanese on all four charges against him, three of which could have carried the death penalty. The court did not impose sentence immediately.

"The deeds attributed (to Okamoto) were proven beyond any reasonable doubt and constitute proof of guilt to the charges. Therefore, we convict the defendant," said Lt. Col. Avraham Frisch, president of the tribunal.

Okamoto, asked to stand in his steel-plated wooden dock while the verdict was read, stood manacled at the wrists to two military policemen flanking him. He stared straight at the wall. His only movement was the blinking of his eyes.

The defendant fully admitted carrying out the deeds attributed to him in an undisputable way," Frisch said. "From his remarks it can be understood that he undertook the action of his own free will and in full conscience.

"The implementation conformed with the plan and the results conformed with the intention," Frisch said. Okamoto implicated himself as a member of the three-man Japanese suicide squad that carried out the assault. His two companions died in the outburst of machine gun fire and exploding hand grenades.

He told the court he was a soldier in the militant Japanese United Red Army and that it was his "duty as a good revolutionary soldier" to carry out the attack.

Throughout the trial, security arrangements were the toughest est since Nazi Adolph Eichmann appeared behind a glass cage in a civil court 11 years ago on charges of mass murdering Jews during World War II. He was hanged, the first person in Israel's modern 24-year history to be executed legally.

At one point in his trial, Okamoto told the court: "I take full responsibility for the deaths and injuries at the airport. I admit very frankly what we have done."

Commanding Position For Bobby Fischer

By JIM WARD

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (UPI)—For a final 30 seconds Bobby Fischer towered over the chess board. Then he allowed himself a rare smile, collected his pencils and walked out of the room Sunday after one of the most dramatic days in world championship chess.

Minutes earlier world champion Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union had completed his 41st move and left the room, pensive and worried.

The third game in the 24-match world championship was adjourned with the 29-year-old American challenger in a commanding position. The match resumes at 5 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT) today.

U. S. grandmaster Robert Byrne looked up from a pocket chess board and said: "He (Spassky) is almost finished. I cannot see Bobby letting him slip out of the rope. He (Fischer) has the advantage of a pawn and is in a very strong attacking position."

Most experts on hand gave Fischer a 70-30 chance of winning and reducing the 35-year-old Russian's 2-0 lead.

Immediately after the game Spassky jumped into a car with one of his seconds, grandmaster Nikolai Rogius, and left for their hotel to analyze the situation.

Until 90 minutes before the start of Sunday's third game Fischer kept the chess world guessing whether he would appear or continue his boycott in protest against television cameras, or "the evil eyes," as he called them.

Only after the Icelandic organizers broke a $120,000 contract with Chester Fox Inc., a New York firm which had acquired all film and television rights, and moved the board into an adjoining table tennis room, did Fischer give in.

Hilmar Viggonson, treasurer of the Icelandic Chess Federation, said he did not know the implications of the breach of contract.

"We had to cancel a meeting with Mr. Fox but the matter will be straightened out later," he said. "We heard a nasty rumor he will sue us for millions but let's see what happens."

Fred Cramer, a U.S. Chess Federation vice president, said Fischer had been persuaded to appear because of the great number of cables he received from all over the world "begging him to sit down opposite Spassky."

Fischer staged a 35-minute protest during Tuesday's first game by inspecting the hall for hidden cameras and subsequently resigned after 56 moves. He then boycotted Thursday's second match, sulking inside his presidential suite in protest against the cameras. German referee Lothar Schmid awarded the game to Spassky.

Maryland Institution . . . 12-Hour Riot Quelled

JESSUP, Md. (AP) — The Maryland House of Corrections remained quiet early today as officials tried to assess the situation at the maximum security prison following a 12-hour riot that left four guards and four inmates injured.

"It was the worst damage I've seen," said Gov. Marvin Mandel, whose agreement to meet with an inmate delegation finally prompted the last few hundred of the rebelling prisoners to return to their cells about 5 a.m. Sunday.

Many fires had erupted sporadically almost from the onset of the inmates' rampage. Officials said the trouble began Saturday evening with an escape attempt in the outdoor recreation yard.

Initial estimates of damage ran as high as $1.5 million. Mandel, after meeting with the inmate delegation, said he would look into some of the grievances. He said there were no demands voiced by the inmates.

Specifically mentioned, the governor said, were the areas of medical service and the classification board, which assigns inmates to the various institutions within the state corrections system.

As of early today there were still no communications within the 1,500-inmate, predominantly black institution.

However, State Police were maintaining a command and communications post on the grounds for the 25 or so troopers on hand as a precautionary measure, a spokesman stated.

The entire western portion, the focal point of the fires and destruction, was soaked with water late Sunday and troopers said the air was still acrid from burned-out mattresses, benches and furniture.

Peaceful Protest Set By Attica Inmates

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Inmates at Attica state prison have planned a peaceful demonstration for today to protest the release of a nurse from the facility's medical staff, prison officials said.

Gerald T. Houlihan, public relations director of the Dept. of Correctional Services said that Attica Supt. Ernest L.

Montane "had indications there would be a peaceful demonstration by inmates . . . he has indications that they are going to lock themselves in their cells."

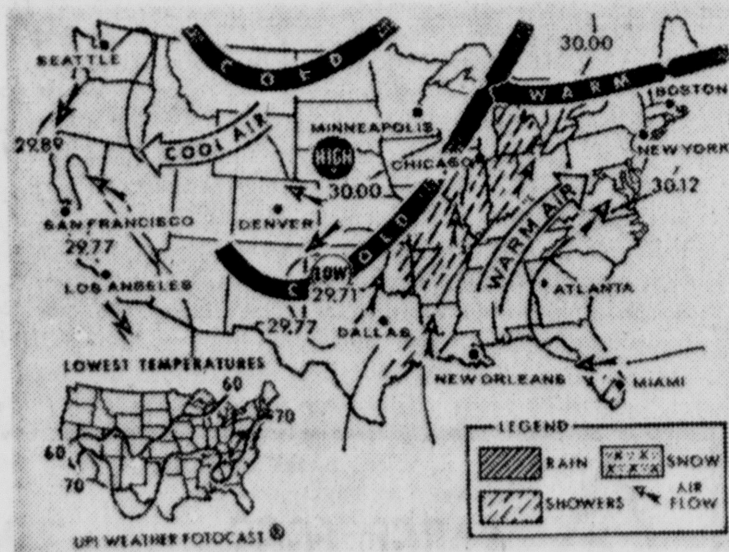

Houlihan said prison officials were not sure "exactly what they are going to do."

Attica's Deputy Supt. Harold J. Smith reported Sunday that discontent in the prison population had reached an "unusual" level.

Smith attributed the rise in tension to the dismissal of Mrs. Mary Kingsley, 47, of Medina, a nurse temporarily hired at Attica.

Smith said the prisoners had a high regard for Mrs. Kingsley and resented her termination. Mrs. Kingsley told newsmen she was "aware of the prisoners' feelings. They feel deprivation now because I treated them like human beings. I'm in their corner."

Last September 42 persons—32 convicts and 10 prison employees—were killed in a four-day inmate insurrection at Attica.

Dear Abby

BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Is Boss Who Likes Tall Gals, Short Men Some Kind of Weirdo?

© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband was recently hired by a man who has got to be some kind of weirdo. Listen to this:

This man owns his own business, and he refuses to hire a man who is taller than he is. (He's about 5 feet 7. Fortunately my husband is 5 feet 5.)

My husband says the other employees told him that the boss doesn't want any big men around him, but he digs big women! His secretary is a head taller than he is, and his wife is even taller than his secretary.

I've never heard of such a nutty hangup, and am not crazy about my husband working for a kook like this. If you can figure it out, please let me know.

DEAR ABBY: Obviously the boss doesn't mind being looked down upon by women, but he dislikes being dwarfed by another man. It probably has something to do with his competitive attitude toward men, and a desire to be "mothered" by women. If your husband has achieved his full growth he has nothing to worry about.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have just spent the last month painting the outside of our house, including the white picket fence on our side. Our neighbors of 20 years said they would paint their side of the fence. I gave them what was left of a gallon of the paint I used so it would match.

Yesterday they spray painted their side in the wind! I wasn't home at the time, and came home to find white paint all over our grass, planter boxes, a whole bed of flowers, the house, the sidewalk, and a natural wood gate.

Our neighbor shouted over the fence, "Isn't that a mess?—Sorry about that."

I was sick and speechless. We will have to replace all the plants, and hope the grass doesn't die. Our gate must be resanded and we will try to ignore the rest. What do you think we should say to these neighbors?

WHITEWASHED: DEAR WHITEWASHED: Say, "After we've figured out how much it will cost to repair the damage you did, we'll give you the bill. Sorry about that, too."

DEAR ABBY: Please help us settle an argument: I wrote to some good friends of ours who live out of town, asking them to take a vacation trip with us. Since these people are notoriously slow letter writers, I added, "Naturally, you are our first choice, so please let us know as soon as possible if you can't, we want to ask somebody else."

They were insulted, and said we were rude. Were we? OUT OF LINE? DEAR OUT: No! On the contrary, they should have felt flattered.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to your recent advice to "Confused" concerning marriage between a Lutheran and Catholic, neither of whom wanted to be married in the other's church. Recent changes in the Roman Catholic Church now permit a Catholic to be married by a minister, rabbi or civil official when there is sufficient reason and permission of local bishop is obtained.

Sincerely,
LT. R. L. CATHOLIC CHAPLAIN, U.S.N., MILTON, FLA.

Cold Remedies Questioned

The effectiveness of the half million dollar a year market for cold remedies sold over-the-counter has been questioned by the Food and Drug Administration. Evaluations made public cast doubt on the effectiveness of most of the products in terms of their advertised claims.

The evaluation dealt with 27 products sold without prescription—inhalers, pills, capsules, jellies, nose drops and other liquids. By implication, the doubts apply to most of the hundreds of other cold remedies on the market because all use essentially the same spectrum of common ingredients.

It is part of the FDA's effort to determine the efficiency of many over-the-counter drug products that came on the market originally licensed as safe, but there was no regulation then requiring evidence of efficiency. Changes in the drug laws have since made evidence of effectiveness mandatory.

Effective rating was given to only four of these claims, predominantly for the relief of nasal congestion. On eight claims, drugs were rated as "ineffective as fixed combinations;" on 13 claims, "probably effective," on 14 claims, "possibly effective" and the rest "effective, but." The rating ineffective in fixed combinations was given because they contained antihistamines and there are doubts concerning the use of antihistamines for relieving colds, though they are possibly effective for hay fever.

Manufacturers immediately began to protest some of these findings, defending their own products as already proved by millions of users. FDA will next rate ingredients, singly and in combinations, in the search for effectiveness. Ultimately, the public will be the gainer.

How It's Done in France

A national election is due in France within the next nine months and there is a vast difference between the way it is done there and in the United States.

While President Georges Pompidou was in Bonn on an official visit to Chancellor Willy Brandt, the French socialist and Communist parties announced the formation of a united front of the left to enter the fight to win the elections. With Pompidou in Bonn was Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas, who for just over three years had fought for a fuzzy "social contract" administration against right-wing Gaullists who claimed his "new society" was visionary.

After the first Cabinet meeting following their return from Bonn, Chaban-Delmas offered his resignation to a stunned Cabinet. Pompidou's immediate acceptance indicated that he had asked for it. Within four hours, he had named a new Premier, Pierre Messmer, a committed Gaullist. Pompidou had met the threat of a united left with a man who can unify the Gaullists of the right. Other leading members of the Cabinet were not disturbed. The change was primarily, if not entirely, political.

Pompidou had secured an orthodox Gaullist to run the government, and particularly the election, in the coming months. Thus Pompidou assured himself of having a chief of government with a firm hand to face the tough election battle ahead. No primaries, no convention, not even consultation. The National Assembly, on summer recess, is not concerned. It can force a government to resign, not to be installed.

This is pre-election politics, French-style. If practiced here, by this administration, the "liberals" screams would be heard 'round the world."

DROPOUT—Through a College Educational Opportunity program in her local Cabrillo, Calif., junior college, Norma Hicks, high school dropout, has been enabled to gain a degree in anthropology and Black Studies and also win a Danforth Foundation graduate fellowship. This goes to prove the worth of the CEO program, but also the intimate and great role of the junior college in raising the intellectual level of those who want to learn.

LOW LIGHTS; LITTLE FOOD — A British authority on nutrition, Dr. Richard Langdale, says that we are attracted to food because its color and general appearance sends signals of former pleasant experiences in eating. If you want to diet, Dr. Langdale suggests using purple, green, or yellow light bulbs in your dining room. In some night spots, it's already so dim you are as likely to eat the menu as your food.

BERRY'S WORLD

"He wants to get out of the national park. Too many people!"

WASHINGTON — Larry O'Brien relaxed from the rigors of running the Democratic convention last week aboard a $200,000 pleasure boat provided by the giant Whittaker Corporation. The party chairman's corporate hosts even wanted to name the luxury cruiser the "Larry O" in his honor. But O'Brien, not wishing to advertise his free yacht, modestly declined the gesture. In fact, he sought to avoid attention by sending his security men to board the boat separately. Then, O'Brien and his guests would slip aboard in casual clothes.

He found the yacht a particularly handy retreat to avoid Rev. Ralph Abernathy and his "poor people" who were clamoring at his door.

After one encounter with the poor, O'Brien fled to his floating lounge and cooled off with cocktails.

The boat came stocked with $100 worth of free booze, but the brands didn't suit his taste. He frequently sent out for quarts of Beefeater's gin to make his favorite extra-dry martinis. He also insisted on having on board, at all times, three bottles of special vintage wine.

Plush Furnishings

The yacht, a spanking new Bertram 46, is manufactured by a Miami firm called Bertram Yacht, a division of the Whittaker Corporation. It comes equipped with color television, stereo, plush carpeting, two staterooms with stand-up showers and teakwood paneling.

For a week prior to the convention, O'Brien spent time aboard the yacht every day. Usually, he was accompanied by shapely young secretaries who sipped cocktails with him and sunned in bikinis. For nourishment, they munched on such delicacies as lobster thermidor.

On the evening before the Democratic telethon, O'Brien, his wife and staff celebrated his birthday aboard the yacht with a rack-of-lamb dinner.

A Democratic party spokesman told us the yacht was used "as a floating office." He said O'Brien went aboard to prepare the final draft of his convention speech. All food and liquor, said the spokesman, was paid for by O'Brien.

As a matter of fact, we have documentation that O'Brien paid only for the replenishment after the original stock of liquor had been consumed. He also paid for half of the crew's salary but refused to feed them.

The yacht was arranged by Ron Beasley and Mike Doyle, two suave public relations specialists based in Miami. They had no comment.

GM Award

Anyone who doubts that Detroit has control of the government auto safety program should watch what is about to happen at a car safety conference in San Francisco this week.

The conference, sponsored by the Transportation Department, plans to present an automobile safety award to Edward Cole, the president of General Motors.

This isn't quite the same as giving an award for crime prevention to a Mafia lord. But, of all car makers, GM has the most scandalous safety record. It is responsible for the notorious Corvair, whose unsafety at any speed launched Ralph Nader to national prominence.

General Motors also holds the world's record for cars recalled because of serious safety defects. In all, it has called back nearly seven million cars.

The latest episode involved the Chevrolet Vega, which GM once labeled "the finest car ever built in America at any price." The company just recalled a half million Vegas because their wheels might fall off.

This is the third recall of Vegas. The other two were for defects that could have caused the cars to burst into flames or fly out of control.

The responsibility for giving the safety award to General Motors belongs to the Transportation Department's National Motor Vehicle Safety Advisory Council, which organized the conference.

A look at its membership makes it clear how GM got the award. The council is loaded with auto industry officials. The vice chairman, for example, is Trevor Jones, director of electronic controls systems for none other than General Motors.

Mail Violation

Every election year brings a flood of abuses of the congressional franking privilege which allows members of Congress to use the mails free for official business. The usual violation occurs when candidates for re-election use the frank to mail campaign material.

Representative Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., has found a new variation. He is using the frank to benefit a special interest. He recently deluged voters with material furnished him by the National Right to Work Committee, an antiunion lobby.

Kim Caught in a Bind

WASHINGTON (NEA) — North Korea's Kim Il Sung is caught in a bind between Russia and China. And suffering severe economic problems.

For years he has kept his country free of complete domination by Moscow and Peking only by the most nimble of dancing acts. He has shifted first to one, then the other.

By this play back and forth he has extracted arms and economic aid, at one time from Moscow, at another from Peking — and sometimes from both at once.

Up to now he has been aided by the rivalry between these two countries and by his own adroitness.

There is new evidence that the pressures have now become too great. Like Mao Tse-tung in his fear of Russia, North Korea's Kim needs a connection with the West to balance against the two Communist giants.

He needs economic accommodation to lessen his dependence on Russia and China for aid—an aid which is uncertain and tied heavily with strings.

He requires some sort of military accommodation with South Korea to cut back on his defense burden which is overloading his economy and making him too dependent on Moscow and Peking.

Kim, for all his communism, has a deadly fear of domination by either Russia or China, even though he reportedly holds, or once held, Russian citizenship.

Curiously enough, it is understood from contacts in Tokyo and Hong Kong that both Moscow and Peking, for reasons of their own, have also been urging Kim to make these accommodations. Russia's hope, these reports say, is that these Western contacts will weaken North Korea's relations with Peking. Peking, presumably, has the same hope in reverse.

In any event, other Tokyo contacts report the eagerness with which Pyongyang has been seeking economic deals with Japan and South Korea, and putting out feelers toward economic accommodations with the West in a variety of areas. The thinking is that North Korea would like western technical and monetary aid and closer contacts generally for the economic and fear of Sino-Soviet imperialism reasons noted above.

Officials in the Nixon administration say it is not necessary to put trust in Kim Il Sung to see the opportunities this opening to the West offers.

It is precisely the same type situation that prompted Yugoslavia almost two decades ago to ask for help.

Now, some 20-odd years and well over a billion dollars in aid and political backing later, some of the most ardent anti-Communists in this government believe the experiment and investment were worth every dollar in halting Russian expansion in Western Europe, even though Tito remains as determined a Communist as ever. (His defense setup is directed against the Soviet Union to insure against a Czechoslovakian-type takeover.)

The theory is that every move toward independence by a Communist nation, however small, is insurance against a Communist front that could endanger the United States and its allies and other nations large and small around the world.

Though North Korea may not be a major factor in world affairs, it is hoped here that it could set an example for other countries — encouraging them to resist Communist pressures.

And who knows, perhaps even North Vietnam would find a lesson in the Korean example. Hanoi has the same problems — a shaky economy, a haunting fear of Russia and China, a war that increases her dependence on these two powerful giants. But don't count on Hanoi following Pyongyang's lead.

Sounds and Smiles of Summer

Summer is . . .
A blue lake in the palm of a mountain, the icing melted. A teenage girl staring into a mirror, stunned by new freckles. A skinny old man standing on the edge of water, stooping to scoop handfuls for ancient shoulders. A bronze sun in the west, reluctant to set.

Middle-aged America dressing to the nines for one night of cocktails and cha-cha at the country club. An infant in diapers fighting round after round against the heat of night. Human lemmings, from Illinois to India, from Topeka to Tokyo, making the annual pilgrimage to the edge of the sea.

The whispering roar of air conditioners. The daily countdown to vacation time. Big baking cities with children playing in the bottom of the ovens. Bearded hippies in the park prepared to solve the ills of the world without a medical license.

Liberated women who are tired of being sex objects wearing as little as possible to maintain their status as sex objects. The hour before dawn, when moist diamonds sparkle on the lawn. A barefoot boy with a bamboo pole and a stubborn expression walking across fields to a dark and cool running stream.

The industrious sound of bees. Small green apples hanging in an orchard, impatient to grow up and acquire a complexion. The lottery of leaves, spinning heads and tails, from bright side to dark, at the mercy of the gambling breeze. Hot iron faces in a steel bus.

A handful of bright confetti thrown into the night sky. An old lady rocking on the front porch with wool and needles, missing nothing that passes, never dropping a stitch. Birds staking a claim to a branch office. Trees in a valley reaching for the sun.

Fireflies winking at jet planes, which wink back. A white ship on a blue horizon, creating its own breeze. The irresistible urge for a late afternoon nap. Cold cuts and a salad for dinner. A hardhat perspiring as he watches a cold beer perspire down the outside of a glass.

The oil burner in cardiac arrest. The shocked expression of children who are asked to help with housework. The sweet smell of grass after it gets a butch haircut. The slides, the swings, the monkey bars, the sedate trot of carousel horses, ice cream cones, popicles, little running feet wearing out sneakers — where in God's name do they get the energy?

A mother duck ordering eight frightened babies into the water, or else. Roses on a fence putting pink lips for a kiss. Corn in orderly regiments waving their arms for attention. Climbing up a rocky hill looking for wild raspberries and blackberries.

Cool craggy mountains looking high toward eternity. A gushing fire hydrant, the Coney Island of the ghetto. Seagulls complaining about their stomachs as they stand still in a pale sky. The sunny shadowless world of one P.M. Young lovers hand-in-hand; he, dreaming of tonight; she, of tomorrow. A swift brook polishing round stones. A rainbow trout shattering the smooth pane of glass on top of a lake. A boa constrictor of traffic slithering on four-lane concrete.

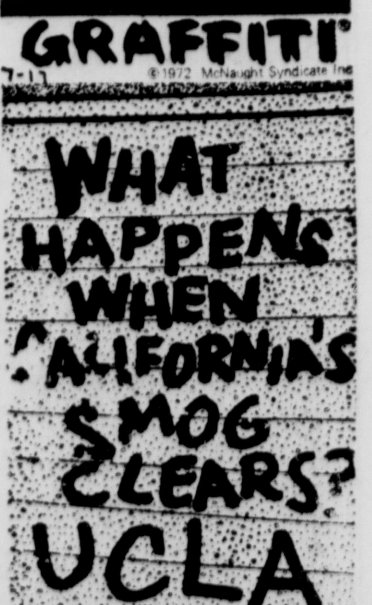

Golf balls arcing everywhere, a summer hail storm. A rustling snow shovel in the back of a garage. A little girl in Mary Janes, white socks, pink starched dresses, cool and aloof to barefoot boys, who wouldn't play with her in any case. Rheumy eyes in homes for the aged, incredulous at seeing one more summer.

Personal loans, an opportunity to pay for a two-week vacation in one year. The rare summer sound, through lilting curtains, of someone practicing scales on a piano. A commuter train, panting at a station. Off to the picnic grounds at dawn, where mother learns that everybody is hungry at ten A.M.

The sun suddenly closing dark lids over its eyes and the hush of birds as the wind vacuums the gutters and big drops of rain play the drums on rooftops and weep down windows. Executives leaving the office early "to beat the rush."

Iced tea. The dark cool of a tavern. Shuffleboard. Horse races. Sleeping in pajama bottoms. Cleaning a small cut knee, not forgetting the antiseptic kisses. Tennis. The silent farm furrow of a canoe. Pale plus burn equals tan.

A's Crush Yankee Spirit

NEW YORK (AP) — The Oakland A's made it a disastrous weekend for the New York Yankees in American League baseball.

The Yankees arrived home in high spirits last Friday, only 3½ games off the lead in the AL's East. And the home stand at Yankee Stadium seemed off to a good start when Steve Kline retired the 18 batters to face him in the opener of a two-night doubleheader with Oakland.

Then came the disaster. The A's wiped out a 3-0 deficit to win that opening game. They won the second game, too, and came through again on Saturday. Sunday they completed a four-game sweep of the one-time Bronx Bombers, 5-2.

Tallying up the toll of the weekend: the Yankees scored only seven runs in the four games, gave up eight homers that accounted for 14 of Oakland's 21 runs, dropped four games below .500 and fell 7½ games off the pace.

Conversely, the A's widened their lead to seven games over the Chicago White Sox in the AL West. "It's good to open up some margin," commented Dick Williams, the A's skipper.

Mel Stottlemyre, who started the game for the Yankees with a string of 20 scoreless innings, yielded a homer to Joe Rudi in the first inning and a two-run roundtripper by Mike Epstein in the sixth that accounted for what proved to be the winning run.

Epstein had also homered for the go-ahead run in the first game of the series on Friday.

Epstein attributed his good performance to "concentration and discipline."

"A left-handed hitter has to have that to hit in Yankee Stadium, the way they pitch to left-handers here. You can't pull low, outside pitches and sinker ball pitches they give you all the time. You have to wait for your pitch."

Although he has hit 16 homers, Epstein commented: "My bat has been dragging and I can certainly use the All-Star break."

The Yankees will probably agree with that.

NICE GOING, JOE — Mike Epstein of the Oakland A's pats teammate Joe Rudi on the head after Epstein had homered with Rudi on base in the sixth inning of game in Yankee Stadium Sunday. Rudi also homered in the first inning. The homers by Rudi and Epstein powered the Athletics to a 5-2 victory over the Yankees and gave them a four-game series sweep. (UPI)

Will Padres Mend Their Fences?

SAN DIEGO (AP) — It's a long way from home plate to the outfield seats in San Diego Stadium — about as long as the figurative distance the San Diego Padres would have to travel to reach first place in the National League West.

While the fences have proved difficult for visiting batters to clear this season, they've been virtually impossible for the last-place Padres to reach. San Diego has won 16 and lost 18 on the road but is 15-34 at home after Sunday's 7-3 victory over the New York Mets.

On the theory that shorter fences might mean a few more victories and would certainly mean more runs, club president Buzzie Bavasi is thinking of putting up a 10-foot fence next season, 10 feet in front of the 17-foot wall that rings the outfield.

"That would be the best move we could ever make," said batting coach Bob Skinner.

Nate Colbert, the Padres' one bona fide power hitter, agreed. "I wish it had been there today," the big first baseman said.

Colbert drove in two runs in game, increasing his season total to 59, tied for third in the league. One RBI came on a first-inning single and the other on a seventh-inning sacrifice fly that was caught at the base of the leftfield wall. With the proposed shorter fence it would have been his 21st homer of the season.

The Padres, who had dropped five straight games to the Mets here this season, took advantage of throwing errors by two New York pitchers to score four runs in a tie-breaking seventh inning.

After a bases loaded wild pitch and an error by Enzo Hernandez gave the Mets two runs in the sixth, Hernandez tied the score with a two-run single in the bottom of the inning.

Then in the seventh, a walk, a wild throw by losing pitcher Jerry Koosman, 6-5, on a sacrifice, Colbert's fly, singles by Clarence Gaston and John Jeter, and another wild heave by reliever Danny Frisella gave the Padres their winning margin.

Rookie Bill Greif, 5-11, picked up his second straight victory with three shutout innings of relief.

Since the first of the month Colbert has slugged seven homers, driven in 14 runs and batted .333 in a strong bid to represent the Padres for the second straight season at the All-Star game, scheduled July 25 in Atlanta.

"That would mean very much to me," he said.

Colbert had to leave Sunday's game in the eighth inning because of a sore right elbow. The injury wasn't considered serious.

The Padres are idle today after winning seven of their last 12 games. On their last road trip to New York, Philadelphia and Montreal the Padres won six of 10 and hit nine home runs, continuing the homer advantage they have had on the road all season. But they have been outscored in San Diego Stadium.

Brewers—Cold Again

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer

When you're hot, you're hot and when you're not, you're probably the Milwaukee Brewers.

The baseball Brewers were stuck in one of their cold spells games including a 1-0 two-hitter at the hands of California's Rudy May in the first game of their doubleheader.

What's worse is that the second game was also 1-0 in California's favor as Milwaukee came to bat in the bottom of the eighth inning. The Brewers weren't cold—they were frozen.

Clearly, it was time for action and so Manager Del Crandall used his old pinch runner for a pinch runner move.

The double pinch runner strategy paid off—helped considerably by George Scott's two-run single—as the Brewers rallied for a 2-1 victory and a split of the doubleheader.

Elsewhere in the American League Sunday, Oakland rapped New York 5-2, Detroit shut out Kansas City 2-0, Boston whipped Minnesota 6-1, Texas defeated Cleveland 3-2 in 12 innings and Baltimore downed Chicago 6-1 in the rain-abbreviated first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The nightcap was washed out.

Starter Lloyd Allen and reliever Rick Clark had limited the Brewers to just four hits in the nightcap when pinch hitter Ron Theobald opened the eighth inning with a single.

Here Crandall started working. Pinch Runner Number One.

When the first guy up in the inning singled, I didn't want to use a player we might need later, so I sent in pitcher Skip Lockwood," Crandall explained.

The situation cried for a bunt, and Rick Auerbach delivered it. What's more, Auerbach beat it out. And here comes Pinch Runner Number Two, not for Auerbach, but for Lockwood.

"We get men on first and second and this is our chance to win the ball game," said Crandall, "so I sacrifice a little speed at second base for experience by sending in Bob Heise to run for Lockwood."

Brock Davis followed with another bunt single and Scott delivered with his game-winning two-run single.

Questioned about the double pinch runner strategy move it off, saying, "it worked pretty good, that's all I know."

Oakland completed a sweep of its four-game series at New York and opened a 7½-game lead over Chicago in the AL's West Division.

In the East, Detroit maintained its one-game lead over Baltimore, shutting out Kansas City while the Orioles were knocking off Chicago.

Norm Cash and Aurelio Rodriguez tagged home runs, giving rookie Bill Slayback all the offense he needed to defeat the Royals.

Slayback scattered five hits for his first major league shutout. Cash's homer was his 17th and Rodriguez hit his fourth.

Boog Powell bombed his third homer in four games for three runs and Brooks Robinson also drove in two as Baltimore kept pace with the Tigers by knocking off Chicago.

The game was called in the seventh inning when a rain squall soaked Baltimore's Municipal Stadium.

Powell's ninth homer of the season came in the sixth inning and helped Jim Palmer gain the victory. Palmer, 13-4, allowed only three hits and one unearned run.

Marty Pattin hurled a four-hitter and Danny Cater and Reggie Smith crashed home runs, helping Boston beat Minnesota.

Pattin, who hurled a one-hitter in his last start, improved his record to 7-8, besting Bert Blyleven, 9-11.

Dave Nelson's 12th inning single scored Lenny Randle with Texas' winning run as the Rangers edged Cleveland.

The game started at 7:30 p.m. local time by special permission of the American League to avoid the hot Texas afternoon weather.

$25,000 To Colbert

MILWAUKEE, Wis. UPI—Jim Colbert is a great believer in the power of positive thinking. He also didn't want to let his father show him up too much.

Maybe that's why the 31-year-old pro golfer from Overland Park, Kan., is $25,000 richer today.

Colbert won that amount Sunday by playing "the best tournament golf of my career" to capture the $125,000 Greater Milwaukee Open crown. He fired a final round of 69 for a 72-hole score of 271—one stroke better than George Johnson, Chuck Courtney, Grier Jones and Brian "Buddy" Allin.

Three others—Bert Greene, Jim Weichers and Rod Funseth—were one stroke further back.

"My dad had a hole in one and won a club championship the other day," Colbert said. "I guess some of it rubbed off."

Colbert had rounds of 66, 67, 69 and 69 and had only five bogeys during the 72 holes of play.

"This is the best competitive golf I've ever played," he said. "But that's what happens when your thinking is right."

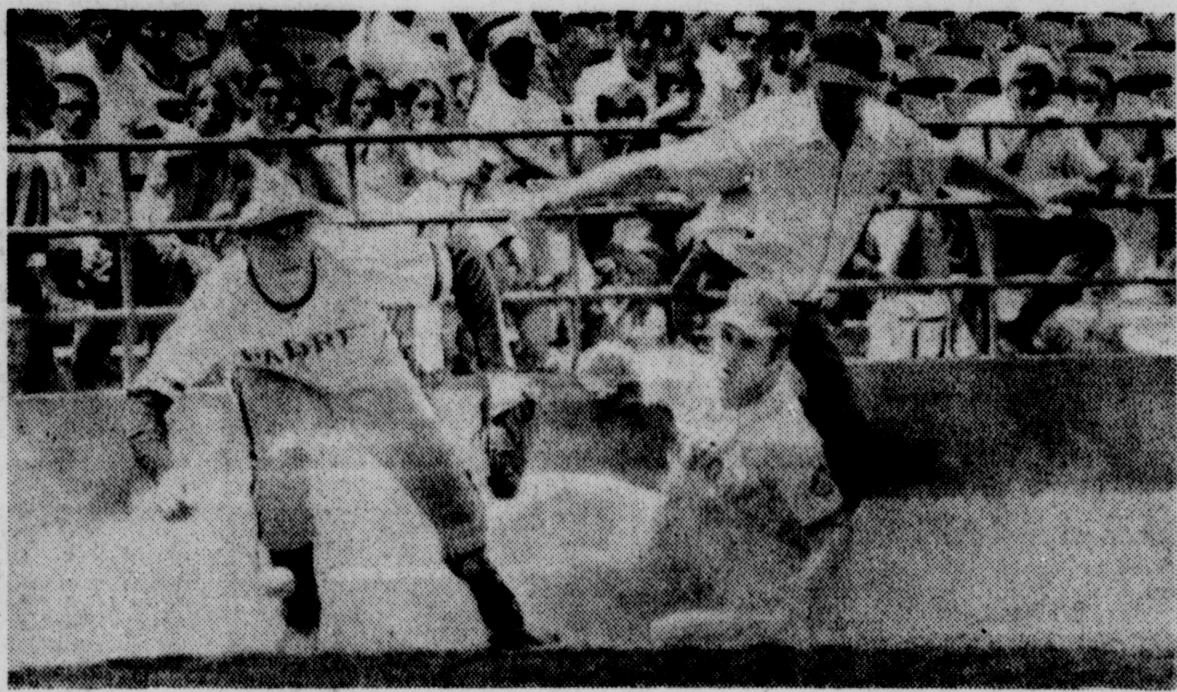

"If you think good things, feel good things and expect good things the good things will come. That's the way I feel. I didn't just feel I was going to win. I expected it. I expected it because I was playing well."

The win, Colbert's first since 1969 and only his second in seven years on the pro tour, almost got away, however.

Johnson, who was seeking to win his first major tournament and thus become the first black to ever be qualified for the Masters, scrambled back from five strokes off the pace at the midway point of the final round and nearly got a playoff-forcing birdie on the 18th.

But his 12-foot putt lipped the cup and he had to settle for second.

Allin almost birdied the 18th also, chipping his third shot to the pin. But the ball hit the rim of the cup and rolled off to the side, leaving him tied for the second spot.

SAFE AT THIRD — Ed Sudol, third base umpire, calls Dave Sneck of the New York Mets safe at third in the fourth inning in San Diego, Calif., Sunday. Wayne Garrett of the Mets hit a ball deep to center and Sneck tagged up and slid into third as Padres Dave Roberts took throw. (UPI)

Pirates Ran Off With Pair of Wins

By KEN RAPPOPORT Associated Press Sports Writer

"We hit the ball and they caught it," said Lee May of the Houston Astros. "They hit the ball and it was in the hole. That's baseball."

No, that's the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates use the home field advantage as well as any team in the National League—and Sunday turned it to their advantage again.

Base hits whistled through the infield on the hard, artificial surface at Three Rivers Stadium and the Pirates literally ran off with a pair of 3-2 victories over the Astros.

"I've never seen so many ground balls shoot through like they do for the Pirates," said Houston Manager Harry Walker.

"Manny Sanguillen hits that ball on the ground and—boom—it's gone."

The Pirates killed two birds with the double triumph. For one thing, the East leaders moved 4½ games up on the second-place New York Mets, who lost a 7-3 decision to the San Diego Padres. For another, they dropped the Astros five games behind Cincinnati in the West after the Reds beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers cut down the Montreal Expos 4-2; the San Francisco Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 10-7 and the Chicago Cubs downed the Atlanta Braves 5-3.

The Pirates' first-game victory was fashioned with the help of speed, combined with that Tartan-Turf surface. The contest was tied 2-2 when Willie Stargell opened the 10th inning with a walk. Stargell raced to third when Sanguillen rifled a sharp single through the infield.

After Rennie Stennett was walked intentionally to load the bases, Bob Robertson was struck on the right wrist with a Fred Gladding pitch, forcing in the winning run.

In the second game, the Pirates took a 1-0 lead with an unearned run in the first inning—then used that tailormade combination of speed and playing-surface again to build their lead.

The Pirates scored their eventual winning runs off Houston's Don Wilson in the fourth when Al Oliver singled and scored on Stargell's double.

Stennett then drilled a ball through the Astro infielders for a run-scoring single.

Bill Buckner ripped a two-run triple to highlight a four-run scattered seven hits to lead Los Angeles over Montreal. It was Sutton's 11th victory of the campaign.

Tito Fuentes hit his first major league grand slam home run and rookie Garry Maddox added a three-run shot to pace San Francisco over Philadelphia.

Jose Cardenal, who hit a home run in the second inning to drive in Chicago's first run, knocked in the tie-breaker with a single as the Cubs scored three times in the eighth inning to defeat the Braves.

Freestyle races in 25 and 50-yard lengths are scheduled with the age breakdowns listed as 5-10, 11-14 and open. The open category includes any age up to and including 18 years.

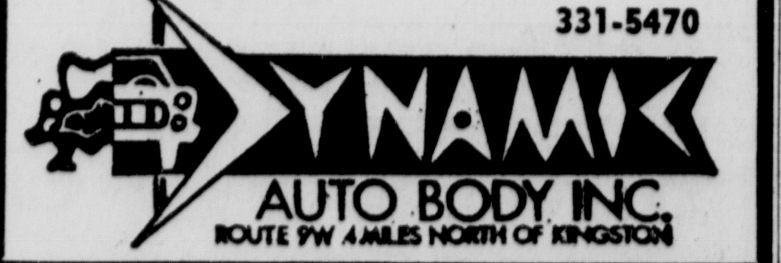

Twelve winners will receive prizes with the first three finishers in all events chosen as the city team for two meets against Athens to be held later in the summer.

Recreation Department officials stress that this meet is open only to residents of the City of Kingston and to boys and girls who do not belong to organized swim clubs or country club swim teams.

Rain Is Braves' Best Friend

KINGSTON — Rain continues to be the Kingston Braves' best friend. The frequent number of rain-outs which have allowed manager Gary Dross to start mound-ace Tom Gallo in practically every contest interceded Sunday at Dietz stadium to wash out a Minisink Valley lead with a doubleheader less than four innings old.

Saturday Gallo had worked again, this time stopping the Newburgh Nuclears by scattering seven hits, as the former UCCC hurler picked up his fifth straight win and the Braves their sixth straight.

A scoreless game for two in drive in two runs for the winning margin. The last battle with the Nuclears was a 19-3 rout, but the locals didn't find things quite so easy this time. John Fescoe was on the mound again.

but he stifled the Braves' bats while his mates built him a 3-1 lead after five.

Mike Patrick, Gallo and Gene Carpenter finally reached Fescoe for consecutive singles to start the sixth as errors, seemingly the Nuclears' trademark this season, added to the damages.

When Patrick raced home on Carpenter's hit, the dropped throw at home moved the runners up to second and third.

Horton bounced what should have been the third out down to short, but the first baseman's error erased the Newburgh lead for good.

Carpenter's double and an infield single by Dee White set the stage for Horton's eighth-inning game-winner.

Now with a 6-1 record, Kingston still trails Poughkeepsie in the Rookie League's Northern Division. Next action for the Braves is slated for Dietz Stadium Tuesday night when Dross's squad will take on Beacon.

weather permitting, that is.

Leonard Got Little Luck He Needed

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

Old pro Joe Leonard had known all along that he didn't have the fastest car in Sunday's 200-mile race for Indianapolis-type cars at Michigan International Speedway.

But he knew he could finish the race and that was what he set out to do—hoping for a bit of luck along the way.

He got it with less than two miles to go. Mel Kenyon, another warhorse racer, was leading Leonard by almost a lap. Suddenly, Kenyon's Gilmore Special-Offy lost power going down the back stretch. It was out of gas.

Leonard moved into the lead and went on to win handily over Wally Dallenbach in an STP-Lola, with Kenyon coming in third and Sammy Sessions fourth. Lee Kunzman, a rookie, was fifth.

The race was stopped twice for a total of more than an hour and a half. The first red flag flew when Merle Bettenhausen crashed into an aluminum guard rail. He lost an arm in the accident and was hospitalized in critical condition.

In other weekend action, Chevrolet-driving Bobby Allison won a 300-mile race for Grand National cars of the National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing at Trenton, N.J. His race speed was 114,030 m.p.h. Bobby Isaac was second in a Dodge, Richard Petty third in a Plymouth, Fred Lorenzen fourth in a Chevrolet and Cecil Gordon fifth in a Ford.

It was Allison's fifth triumph of the season and his $6,106 payoff boosted his season's money total to $133,266, tops on the NASCAR circuit.

Emerson Fittipaldi, the Brazilian star, beat Jackie Stewart to the wire by five seconds to win the British Grand Prix for Formula One cars.

Fittipaldi, who drives a Lotus works car, now has a firm grip on his campaign to win the world driving title that Stewart hates to give up. It was Fittipaldi's third triumph of the season and he now leads Stewart in the points race 43-27.

American Peter Revson got his second third-place finish in his first year of Grand Prix competition. He drives a McLaren.

Graham McRae of New Zealand won the weekend's biggest purse, $22,100, when he captured the Continental 5000 race at Elkhart Lake, Wis. McRae won the first heat and was runner-up to winner Skip Barber in the second heat.

Sam Posey placed second over-all and collected $12,950. Warren Tope took his first victory in the Sports Car Club of America's Trans-Am series by driving a Mustang to an easy triumph at Elkhart Lake Saturday. He was paid $5,450.

Second place went to Milt Minter in a Firebird, third to Bill Collins in a Javelin. Ramo Stott, the Keokuk, Iowa, veteran beat Roger McCluskey to the finish line by about one second in winning a 200-mile race for stock cars of the U.S. Auto Club at the Michigan oval.

McCluskey, wheeling a Plymouth, was the only driver in the same lap with Stott's Dodge at the finish. Third place went to Butch Hartman in a Dodge.

Jack's the Greatest—Trevino

By RONALD THOMSON

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Lee Trevino, still bubbling over his second straight victory in the British Open Golf Championship, admits that his great rival, Jack Nicklaus, is a better player.

By winning the British title Saturday, Trevino put an end to this year's Nicklaus' dream of capturing the first Grand Slam in modern golf—sweeping all four major professional titles.

Trevino survived a charge by the 32-year-old Nicklaus in the final round over Muirfield's 6,892-yard, par 71 links.

Then the man who calls himself "Super Mex" paid this tribute to Nicklaus: "I don't think I am in the same class as Jack."

"Nicklaus can be beaten, simply because nobody can win all the time. But to beat him, you really have to play well," Trevino said.

"There was no one in the field who could honestly say he was in the same class as Jack."

Trevino said he hoped Nicklaus would go on to win the Professional Golfers Association Championship next month at Birmingham, Mich., the last of the Grand Slam tourneys.

"Then I'll be known not just as the British Open champion but as the man who stopped Jack from doing the big one this year," Trevino said. "There's a kind of immortality in that alone."

Nicklaus had already won the 1972 Masters and U.S. Open and needed the British championship and the PGA to achieve the all-but-impossible dream.

Trevino picked up the winner's pay check of $14,300 with a 72-hole total of 278, six under par. His rounds were 71-70-66-71.

Nicklaus took second place, one stroke behind with 70-72-71-66-279.

"I rate my last round as one of the finest I ever played," Jack said.

His 66 matched the course record, set earlier in the week by talented young Johnny Miller and later equalled by Trevino.

Second Loss for Wilwyck Juniors

KINGSTON — Wilwyck's junior golfers are finding out that the Junior Interclub League is a whole different ball game.

Saturday, the WCC squad took a 12-7 whipping from a team from Wolfert's Roost, their second defeat in three outings in the newly-formed league.

Head professional Bill Reilly pointed out several positive factors involved with the new affiliation: "We're giving more kids a chance to play. On certain days when both leagues are scheduled, we'll have twice the number of juniors competing."

It also makes the Mid-Hudson a little more competitive."

Against Wolfert's Roost, Wilwyck's Richie Siegel and Bill Reilly swept their opponents in the fourth and fifth matches to avenge shutout losses by teammates Bob Thomas and Kyle Murray. A.J. Maneen dropped a 2-1 decision to Wolfert's Bill Cunningham in the first pairing, and the winners decided the issue on Mary Jo Battaglia's 3-0 victory over Harvey Bostic in the final battle.

Rock Nine Prevails

KINGSTON

Charlie Bouton lasted four innings in Saturday's heat, but a fine relief performance by Ed Glynn stopped J&G-Sickler's for the last three frames as Rock Construction notched a 5-2 Senior Babe Ruth League victory at Dietz Stadium.

A leadoff triple by Glynn off loser Walt Houghtaling started the Rock attack. Glynn scored, then the winners came back with what proved to be the winning pair in the second frame. Doubles by Rocky Secreto, Tom Turco and Boughton sparked the scoring.

Secreto also preserved Boughton's margin with a fine defensive play at short. With two men on, Secreto made a leaping catch of a line drive to kill a J&G-Sickler's threat.

Jay Snyder, with one of the losers' five hits, chased in a run and bumped Boughton in for the fourth. Glynn came on to match Boughton's three strikeouts as he picked up the save.

Our Energy Crisis—Part 7

Adequate energy and a clean environment... is it possible to have both?

There are many reasons why our country is facing a growing shortage of fuel and energy. Cleaning up and protecting our environment is one of them.

Environmental protection is necessary and a great deal is being accomplished. But working toward one national goal — a clean environment — is having an adverse effect on another — providing our country with an adequate supply of fuel and energy.

Because of environmental protection regulations, it is becoming increasingly difficult to mine coal, and to use it for industrial purposes. There are environmental objections to drilling new wells for oil and natural gas, particularly offshore. Construction of an oil pipeline from Alaska has been delayed, and both nuclear and conventional power plants are being opposed. Environmental objections also have been raised about electric transmission lines.

As you can see, solving one problem can cause others. To be sure, environmental protection is not the only reason the United States is facing an energy shortage, but it is a contributing factor.

Since we need both energy and a clean environment, what is the solution? Part of the answer is the research programs which are under way to develop clean energy sources and related facilities which will have only a minimum impact on the environment.

Another part of the answer is the need for environmental standards which are more realistic in terms of existing technology. In a rush to clean up the air, water and landscape, some standards were established without sufficient scientific basis and with little regard for the public's ability or willingness to pay for the improvements.

One more thing. We need better public understanding of these problems. Industry is spending billions of dollars in the public interest. Ultimately the costs of these environmental protection programs are passed on to consumers in the form of higher prices and higher rates.

For this reason alone, the public should take more interest in what is being done to protect our environment.

Botsford and Marks Capture Invitational

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON — Bob Botsford, the Dutchess Golf and Country Club veteran, and Bill Marks of Wiltwyck Country Club joined cards Sunday to win the 90-hole Wiltwyck Invitational with a combined stroke and best-ball total of 355.

But, there's more to the story than that bare statistic reveals. And it all came about because the U.S. Army Reserve, in their infinite wisdom, decided to call up Frank Murray of Wiltwyck between Saturday's 36-hole stroke competition and the start of Sunday's team best-ball action.

This left Botsford, who was originally paired with Murray, without a partner and the tournament committee with a large headache. What to do about Botsford.

After considerable discussion, the committee, by majority vote, ruled that Botsford would be paired with Marks, who carried the same handicap as Murray—nine. But . . . Marks was already paired with Frank Weller in the first two some of the day.

The committee got around that with a ruling that Botsford and Marks could play as a "team" but Marks would be ineligible to share first prize, if they won . . . and, of course, they did. He could only share a prize with his original partner, Weller. And . . . they did not win a prize.

The committee's ruling was a fortuitous turn of events for Botsford, who captured the invitational at match play in 1964 and 1970 and lost in the finals to Harvey Bostic in 1960. Although he carded 36-38—74 on his own ball, he needed help from Marks and got it—on four holes, including the 15th where he picked up a double-bogey 6 and the tough par-3 sixteenth which Marks parred.

Botsford and Marks, who had a combined stroke total of 327, fired a best-ball 35-33—68 to edge the Dave Blakely-Rick Barthel by one shot. Another stroke off the pace were Ralph DeStefano of Dutchess and Bob Davenport of Wiltwyck with 324-73—397.

Sharing a tie for the fourth prize spot were the teams of Joe Bostic of Wiltwyck and Joe Modica of Woodstock and Don Arthur of Cherry Valley and Chuck Thompson of Powelton. The "sudden death" playoff extended eight rain-pelted holes. With the Arthur-Thompson team winning with a par-3, when Bostic hit the green on his drive and then three-putted.

Jeff Berry of Stony Ford and Jocko Maggiamo, the Dutchess vet, fired 399 to tie Leon Randall of Wiltwyck and Fred Bitzko of Dutchess.

For Botsford it was simply a matter of combining a phantom partner and new putter—and a lot of luck to nail down his third Invitational victory.

"I putted poorly during the first three rounds," he commented, "and I decided to buy a new putter from Bill Reilly." Obviously it worked well for Botsford who birdied 1, 2, 12 and 17 and got a birdie lift from Marks on the 13th hole.

"I didn't even know my partner," Botsford added. "But I felt better when I was finally introduced to him on the 16th hole."

Botsford's enforced estrangement from his partner may have been a tonic for him. "I didn't know what my partner's card was so I just went for everything," he said. "I went all out on the 15th where my tee shot hit the tree line. I must say, Bill Reilly fixed me up real good with that new putter."

The Blakely-Barthel team was something of a Cinderella affair. Blakely, the long hitting former Wiltwyck champion, had played only twice, prior to Friday's qualifier—9 holes at 326-73-399.

The Granit and 18 at Wiltwyck on June 3, "the day I was married."

With a one-under par 71 on his own ball, Blakely contributed five birdies to the team score, the longest from 10 feet on the second hole. Barthel ran down a 15-footer for a birdie on the 13th hole.

New York—World Harness Center

A pair of speedy 4-year-olds—one named Speedy and the other a new millionaire—turned New York State's harness racing scene into international prominence over the weekend.

Speedy Crown captured the $125,000 International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night and became the first U.S. entry to win that race in eight years.

At Saratoga Raceway Saturday afternoon, Albatross joined the ranks of million-dollar winners with a no-contest victory over six rivals in a $16,000 invitational. He broke the track record for pacers but failed to top Nevele Pride's trotting excursion there three years ago.

Speed also was the rule at other tracks in the state as Vernon Downs again turned in three two-minute miles and Monticello Raceway had its fastest mile of the season.

The last time a U.S. entry won the International was Speedy Scot's victory in 1964. Speedy Crown, his son, needed two and three-fifths seconds more than his sire, however, as he covered the 1 1/4 miles in 2:35 1/5. Speedy Crown held off a challenge by Canada's Fresh Yankee to win by three-quarters of a length. Another U.S. entry, Flower Child, was third.

In the pari-mutuels, Speedy Crown paid $4.20. It was his sixth straight victory.

The second-place finish of Fresh Yankee, the only mare in the race, raised her total earnings to $1,251,195, surpassed only by Une de Mai's $1,545,740. The latter, a French mare, was scratched from the International when she appeared stiff after a workout.

Albatross took over the third spot behind the two trotting mares on the all-time money list. The winner's share of the Saratoga purse raised his earnings to $1,001,868.

Described by trainer-driver Stanley Dancer as the "greatest horse I've ever been associated with," Albatross' margin of victory was 13 1/4 lengths over Jonathan Hanover. Nifty Nelse was third and Fortune Paul fourth. The latter three, however, were one-two-three in the pari-mutuels as Albatross was banned from the betting. Jonathan Hanover paid $5.40.

Albatross' time of 1:57 3/5 was not only a track pacing record but a world record for 4-year-old pacers over a half-mile track. Or, as the track put it, for any 4-year-old on a fast track. Nevele Pride was also a Stanley Dancer-driven 4-year-old when he trotted the mile at Saratoga in 1:56 4/5. But it was under less-than-ideal conditions. It rained.

The previous record for 4-year-old pacers was Bye Bye Byrd's 1:57 4/5 at Roosevelt Raceway in 1959.

Known as the "Big Bird," the diminutive Albatross—he stands 14 1/2 and weighs about 950 pounds—passed Rum Customer and Cardigan Bay to take over the money-winning lead among pacers. Rum Customer earned $1,001,548. Cardigan Bay, a gelding and the first million-dollar winner, earned $1,000,837.

All the equine millionaires are, oddly enough, bay in color. Bob Hilton, Little Jerry Way and Gloria Barmin were the two-minute winners at Vernon Downs.

Bob Hilton won the first $11,250 division of the Lewis C. Ryan Memorial series pace in 1:57 flat. Yankee Rocket was second and Marshall Dares third. Bob Hilton paid $8.40.

In the second division of the Ryan, Little Jerry Way easily defeated Big Time in 1:58 3/5, with Keystone Journal third. Little Jerry Way paid $7.80.

Herve Filion drove both feature winners.

Earlier, in a $4,000 handicap, Gloria Barmin paced the mile in 2:00 flat and returned $5.40. Buffalo Raceway closed out a week of Grand Circuit racing with the $10,000 W. N. Reynolds Memorial Trot for 4-year-olds, and a perfect five-for-five driving feat for John Schroeder.

Soda Hill, driven by Art Hult, won the non-betting Reynolds. Happy Flash was second and Garland Minbar third and last.

The time for the mile was 2:06 1/5. There were 12 races in all at Buffalo. Schroeder's victories included three $5,000 invitational.

Monticello Raceway registered its fastest race this season when Bossman Lobell won the featured $6,000 Handicap Pace in 2:01. Crown King was second and Armbror Kashmire third. Bossman Lobell was driven by Frank Tagarielle and returned $14.80 in the pari-mutuels.

Albatross' race was the feature of the afternoon portion of a doubleheader program at Saratoga. The nighttime feature, a $5,000 Invitational Trot, was won by Telstar Hanover in 2:04 4/5. Winger Lobell was second and Putnam third. Telstar Hanover returned $8.60.

Brown Touts Bengals

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The tempo began stepping up over the weekend around the training camps of the National Football League; and from the lair of the Cincinnati Bengals, Coach Paul Brown said 1972 could be a championship year for his team.

"It doesn't mean I'm assuring the public now that we'll be in the Super Bowl," said Brown. "But it does mean we have the horses and the depth to compete for it."

He recalled his pledge when the franchise was granted to Cincinnati in 1968 "that in five years we could compete for any championship."

Returning veterans joined rookies at the Bengal camp in Wilmington, Ohio on Sunday. Discussing the Bengals' division title in 1970 in the old American Football League, Brown said his team probably "overachieved, but it was an important step. It meant we were doing something right."

Brown, in talking to his players, repeated his long-standing edict that politics, religion and social issues have "no place in our football." But he said he was making one addition: "This is an election year. Cast your votes as citizens, for what you believe in. But don't bring your political beliefs into our football."

There were two weekend trades. The New York Jets sent tight end Pete Lammons to the Philadelphia Eagles for future considerations. In the other deal, defensive end Ike Lassiter was obtained by the Washington Redskins from the New England Patriots for an undisclosed draft pick.

Pesavento, Baker In Kickers Tie

NEW PALTZ — Dave Baker and Rick Pesavento matched the target score—75—at the Locust Tree Golf & Country Club's Kickers tournament.

Low net total was fashioned by Charles McGill, who carded an 87-20-67. The club plans to stage tournaments every Saturday and Sunday throughout the months of July and August with a club championship qualifier planned from August 5-11. All tournaments are open to the public.

$100,000 WORTH — Nice Dancer wins the $70,000 Manitoba Derby in an upset victory over Victory Song, No. 2, and Gentleman Conn, the favorite, with Bobby Stewart up. Inset is Mrs. Marie Oullette of New Westminster, B. C., displaying a $100,000 check she received as holder of the Manitoba Sweepstakes on Nice Dancer. (UPI)

Dietz-Franz Tie In Soccer League

KINGSTON

Two undefeated, unscored-upon teams clashed for the Metropolitan Division lead in the Junior Soccer League Sunday, but the battle of the high-scoring powerhouse ended in a 1-1 standoff at the Chambers School field as Dietz Auto Supply and Franz House of Beauty added a tie to their two previous wins.

In other contests, Court's Restaurant stayed atop the Colonial Division with a 4-0 whitewash of Dirk's Meat Market, the Cosmos got into the win column with a 7-1 victory over Oehler's, and the Dolphins Johnny on the Spot game was rained out.

Junior Division leader Mason's posted their second straight, a 1-0 thriller over Jo-Al's Restaurant. Other small fry battles saw Woodside win their season opener by a 2-1 score over Oscar's Tapers, while Frank and Alberto's was idle.

The feature match was a tremendous defensive battle, and it was soon evident that neither team was going to match its eight goals per game average. High scoring Phil Bosch finally got Franz on the board with 25 minutes gone in the first half.

It was almost enough, but John Ivanchovich speared the equalizer 15 minutes into the second half to deadlock the contest.

Goals by Lyons, Robinson and Graves boosted Court's to a 3-0 halftime advantage, and Barton split the nets in the second half as Dirk's took its third straight beating. Court's now has a 3-0 slate for a 2 1/2 game lead over the Dolphins in the Colonial loop.

Rhinebeck's Cosmos captured their initial win after two unsuccessful starts. Played at the winners' field, Paul Marvin's three scores powered the Cosmos to a 7-0 lead before Kevin Covey avoided a shutout at the 27 minute mark of the last half.

Wilson and Andrews ripped two and Hobson added a boot to round out the Cosmo scoring. Oehler's sunk deeper into the Metropolitan cellar with their third loss without a win. The Lodgers have allowed 23 goals thus far while producing only one on the offense.

Talented Emil Jordan netted a shot four minutes into the second half to send Jo-Al's slate back to 1-1. Mason's now holds a one-game edge in the Junior standings over Woodside which won its maiden contest.

Jo-Al's is now in third place ahead of Frank and Alberto's (0-1) and last-place Oscar's Tapers (0-2).

The Johnny on the Spot Dolphins game, rained out Sunday, was postponed to Wednesday, July 26. It is one of two night matches scheduled for the league.

Mrs. Randall Leads With 56

KINGSTON

Mrs. Leon Randall recorded a net 56 in Wiltwyck Country Club's Ladies' Throw-Out Tournament to post a one-shot victory over Mrs. Gerald Gruberg.

There were 28 entries in the tourney which allows a player to deduct her handicap and the sum of her worst two holes from the gross for a final tally.

Mrs. Bernard Carpinelli and Mrs. Jack Parnett netted 58 to tie for the third position one stroke ahead of Mrs. James Woodward. Other finishers were: Mrs. Joseph White 61, and Mrs. Gerald Overbaugh, Mrs. Charles Ronder and Mrs. Eugene Abramsky, all at 62.

Mrs. Randall went out in 55 and finished in 51. She received 34 handicap strokes and threw out a bad hole total of 16.

Charges Answered By SPCA

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Replying to a recent statement credited to Kingston city dog catcher, Louis Turck, relating to return of adopted dogs to the Ulster County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the society president, Mrs. Katherine Stoutenburgh said the remarks "are completely unfounded."

In a recent article published in The Daily Freeman of an interview with Turck, he was quoted as saying, "—one thing gripes him: the SPCA." Referring to the society, Turck was quoted further, "they let people in Kingston adopt their (SPCA) dogs, but if for some reason the person can't keep the dog, they won't take him back."

Commenting on Turck's remark, Mrs. Stoutenburgh in a statement Saturday said, "The Ulster County SPCA has never refused to accept the return of an animal adopted from the shelter. In fact, on adopting an animal from the shelter the new owner must sign an agreement to return the animal to the shelter if for any reason the new owner cannot continue to keep it. Proof of the earlier adoption from the shelter, of the returned animal, is required however."

In his published statement Turck also said he would like a tranquilizer gun, for which he has made a request to the Common Council. "I could really grab them (animals) if I had that gun," Turck was quoted.

Referring to that comment, Mrs. Stoutenburgh said, "In the light of the purpose of our organization (SPCA) that is the prevention of cruelty to animals, I hope the dog catcher's request for the tranquilizer gun will never be granted." She added, "In untrained and inexperienced hands a tranquilizer gun could cost the life of the animal, to say nothing of the very possible misdirected shot finding an unintended unlucky target."

Mrs. Stoutenburgh suggested that if the City of Kingston enforces the New York State Dog Licensing Law, and Kingston's dog-leashing ordinance, then the number of dogs running loose on city streets could be reduced.

Speaking of the state's dog licensing law and fees derived from licenses, the SPCA president said a recent television report gave the impression that all dog licensing fees go to the humane society. That refers to the A.S.P.C.A. in New York City.

Scholarships For Medicine Announced

KINGSTON

Two $3,000 medical scholarships, which could total $15,000 in five years are being offered by Ulster County through the County Medical Scholarship Board. It was announced recently by County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago.

Any legal resident of Ulster County, who is interested in attending a medical school and who requires financial assistance, may apply by submitting a letter and resume to Ulster County Medical Scholarship Board, UPO Box 521, Kingston, N.Y. 12401. The entire nine-member board will review all candidate resumes and make a selection of two.

Two annual awards of $3,000 each will be offered. Those eligible must meet the citizenship requirements established for Regents Scholarships for professional study of medicine, at approved medical schools within the United States.

A special stipulation requires that each scholarship recipient must practice medicine within the geographical area of Ulster County for a period to be determined on an individual basis. But in no case shall the period be shorter in years than the number of years of the scholarship grant.

The annual grants would provide funds for one year of pre-med study and four years in a medical school.

Arrangements for setting up the scholarship program were discussed at the recent organizational meeting of the County Medical Scholarship Board.

The resolution adopted by the Ulster County Legislature July 8, 1971 establishing the board and scholarship program was introduced by Legislator Louis H. Bevier, (R-Dist. 8); Charles Scala Jr. (R-Dist. 1) Legislator Brian R. White (R-Dist. 9).

At the organizational session of the board Bevier was named board chairman and Sister Mary Charles, administrator of Benedictine Hospital was named secretary.

Anthony Triulzi, administrator of Kingston Hospital, was designated to disseminate information to the news media through the Ulster County Public Relations Office.

Others on the board include Savago, Dr. David S. Gerbarg, Dr. William Pugliese, Robert Brown, dean of administration, Ulster County Community College, John Gardiner, principal of Wallkill Central High School and Frank McCord of Gardiner.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices opened mixed today with the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks off almost a point.

Advances held a small lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market continues to be beset by many uncertainties, including the weakness of the U.S. dollar and the threat of another international monetary crisis and the lack of progress achieved at the Paris peace talks.

Last week, they noted, the market showed a strong negative reaction because of concern about the economic policies of democratic presidential candidate George McGovern.

Big Board active issues included Curtiss Wright, up 1 at 43; First National City, up 1/4 at 61 1/4; Occidental Petroleum, up 1/4 at 12; and UAL, up 1/4 at 37.

Police Bracing for Recoil After South Bronx Shooting

NEW YORK (AP) — Police today sought to ease tensions among the hundreds of youth gangs in the South Bronx after the latest reported incident of violence that left nine young persons wounded by shotgun blasts fired into a storefront clubhouse.

Police said the shooting at the clubhouse of the Black Pearls gang Sunday morning may have been in retaliation for the wounding of a former member of the Black Spades, a rival gang said to be the largest in the borough.

Sixteen-year-old boys, two teenagers and a 21-year-old woman were wounded by pellets from two shotgun blasts fired into a crowd of 15 young persons attending a dance. The victims were superficially wounded and treated and released from a nearby hospital.

Police said about 10 youths in a raiding party had converged on the clubhouse and one of them, armed with a pump-action shotgun, fired through the front door.

The blasts sent those inside scrambling out a rear door and up to the roof, while the raiding party entered the clubhouse and fired 20 shots from a small-caliber handgun into the walls, police said.

The Black Spades and the Black Pearls have been identified by police as primarily street-fighting gangs with 30 to 50 members.

According to one police estimate, there are nearly 300 gangs in the South Bronx. Police say about a third of the gangs are violence-prone.

JULLIARD ACTING COMPANY
JULY 17 TO JULY 22
"WOMEN BEWARE WOMEN" Unexpectedly, Thomas Middleton's
Jacobean drama, "As ancient as Revenge, as modern as Black Comedy," was the smash-hit of the Julliard Acting Company's initial New York season. Lust is the pivot of the plot: lust of the flesh, lust for gold, lust after power. Here is a spell-binding combination of gripping melodrama and grotesque farce.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Until sundown you have an excellent chance to put into motion the decisions you made the past several days. Your keynote now should be, "I produce results." You can certainly do so through your own ingenuity and resourcefulness. However, take it easy tonight and get a good rest and don't annoy those in power.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Ideal day for paying bills, making collections, attending to government affairs, and good for pleasing romantic tie. The day can be most productive, but care is required during the p. m. Others are not in a very good mood.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Try to reach a better understanding with mate during a. m. Then cement improved relations with partners. You have to use care not to upset a clever partner in p. m. Avoid one who has a trick up his or her sleeve.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can get rid of all that extra labor intelligently, so get at it quickly. Take the health treatments you need in p. m. Make this a constructive day, p. m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get into the activities that please you the most during spare time, but take care you do not argue with mate in p. m. Put those fine skills to work also. Bigwigs will appreciate them.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try to do what mate or other family ties expect of you and make them feel happier and more secure. Get rid of tensions quickly. Take a little time for meditation.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can consult with experts if you want to handle those money problems really well and also plan for increased income. Cut down on expenses immediately. Take it easy tonight and rest so you build up your energy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You can now push those personal aims easily provided you do favors for others. Plan how to be more socially active and popular, successful. Show you have true savoir faire.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have clever methods for quietly convincing bigwigs you deserve backing you want. You are able to help others get rid of their big problems, but do not spend much money. Advance.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who wants to make a real mark in life early, so be certain to give the finest spiritual and ethical training possible early. Having the right philosophy of life is most important here for stability and knowing exactly how to steer the ship instead of letting it flounder. Surround with many young playmates early in life so this youngster can learn how to handle others well upon maturity.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

IN SECRET: (Q) My girl friend and I have been going steady for more than two months, but her parents don't know about it.

She manages to get out almost every night, so we see quite a bit of each other, but we don't like sneaking around. Every time she brings up the subject of wanting to date a guy, her mother gets mad. I am 18 and my girl friend is 16.—Troubled in Maine.

(A) Stop slipping around. Now, go to your girl friend's home. Meet her parents. . . Tell them you like and respect their daughter and want to protect her as much as they do. At 16 she is of dating age and needs to go places with other teen-agers. Her parents should recognize this. But they appear to be unrealistic about her, so be diplomatic.

PUBLISHING: (Q) Can you tell me how I would go about publishing a book? How much would it cost? How would I pay for it? Would the material have to be typewritten? How long would it take to publish?

Is it legal to publish a newspaper or magazine of your own, or must it be with a company? Does the material have to be facts only? Can I put in only my opinions and beliefs of certain subjects?—Teen-Age Writer in Michigan

(A) Some publishers charge for printing books. Some pay writers for the privilege of publishing their books. Each book is an individual case and subject to a standard contract or special arrangement.

Most publishers ask for typewritten manuscripts, but exceptions have been made for outstanding writers. A book can be published in weeks or years. It depends upon the urgency of the subject.

You can publish a newspaper all by yourself, or with a partner or partners. Or you can form a corporation to publish it. You are free to express your opinion in it. You do not have to stick only to facts. But a newspaper that did not tell the truth as you see it would be of no value. All said here about newspapers is true of magazines too.

I think you need study in writing and editing before you start publishing. Your high school probably offers courses in journalism and possibly an opportunity to work on the school paper. Investigate these possibilities when school reopens. Also a course in typing.

PRISCILLA'S POP

HOUSE PAYMENTS, FOOD BILLS, INSURANCE, TAXES!!

I'LL SAY THIS MUCH FOR OUR FAMILY...

Ernestine Guglielmo Youth Beat

On stage in a white-sequined jumpsuit and a gleaming cape with a red satin lining, Elvis Presley with his ageless good looks, seemed miraculously transported from the '50s to the '70s.

And perfectly at ease at his press conference, Elvis Presley with the barest trace of his arrogant grin answered questions, like why he outlasted all his competition with a flip "I take a lot of Vitamin E." He was still real smooth. Until he was asked about his political views. "Honey, I'd like to keep my personal views to myself. I'm just an entertainer," was how the King of Rock and Roll put an end to that line of questioning.

Like the final silence from the '50s, when the Korean war raged but pony-tailed prom queens and men with grease-stained combs sticking out of back pockets didn't seem to know it, Elvis Presley's political opinions still didn't matter.

The psychedelia of the '60s shouted down that silence with slogans like "Right on," "Do your own thing" and other vague exclamations that made people feel closer to awareness.

The Beatles, who admitted one goal was "to be bigger than Elvis," became leaders in a more socially aware and politically active time. Lyrics began to be more political and rock groups were no longer "just entertainers." They became spokesmen, leaders, sometimes without having anything to say. Bill Graham calls it "mass adulation when groups became gods and goddesses, prophets instead of musicians."

Elvis Presley stopped touring and spent his intermission between the '50s and '70s starring in B-grade movie, while the Beatles and Rolling Stones took center stage.

The cliched slogans turned into political action as more and more groups began to come out for specific causes. George Harrison, Ringo Starr and Bob Dylan performing for the Concert for Bangladesh. John Lennon and Yoko Ono at almost every peace rally. Pete Seeger and Jerry Butler performing at an Evening with Angela Davis. And scores of singers and artists performing at McGovern benefits.

But Elvis Presley has survived all those changes. And despite his lack of political expression, he manages to capture an audience with his imperishable theatrical magic.

When Elvis Presley walks on a stage amid a blinding succession of flashing bulbs and screaming voices, 16 years dissolve as though nothing had changed. As though Elvis Presley has never been gone.

Quang Tri Bombarded By U.S. Planes, Gunships

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. warplanes and Navy gunships teamed up Sunday and today for the heaviest bombardment of Communist-held Quang Tri since South Vietnamese forces launched an operation to recapture the province June 27, military spokesmen said.

Military sources said at least 60 B52 bombers, 190 conventional fighters and 10 cruisers and destroyers hit Quang Tri to clear the Communists from around the province capital and to prevent reinforcements from reaching battered Quang Tri city.

Intelligence officers last week said that at least 2,500 members of a fresh North Vietnamese division had been spotted in northwestern Quang Tri province, moving toward the capital of Quang Tri City about 35 miles away.

At least five other regiments—15,000 men at full strength—are believed to have been pulled from the battlefields in Laos to North Vietnam. Allied officers fear they too will be thrown into the battle for Quang Tri.

South Vietnamese paratroopers pushed to within 200 yards of the inner fortress, called the Citadel, in Quang Tri City Sunday, military spokesmen said today.

A U.S. adviser described their push through the province capital as "inch by inch, foot by foot."

President Nguyen Van Thieu vowed last month that all of Quang Tri Province would be recaptured by Sept. 19. His troops so far have retaken less than 10 per cent of the northernmost province.

Military spokesmen reported no fighting within Quang Tri City itself Sunday, but said both paratroop and marine units fought within half a mile of the province capital.

The spokesmen said 194 North Vietnamese were slain around the city, 435 miles north WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George S. McGovern flew home to South Dakota today for a two-week rest before he starts his underdog effort to unseat President Nixon.

It was generally agreed that the South Dakota senator was a decided underdog at this early stage of the 1972 campaign.

A Newsweek magazine survey indicated that if the confidence election were held today, McGovern could be certain of only the four electoral votes of his home state and the three of the District of Columbia. The survey gave Nixon 236 certain electoral votes at this stage.

Republican National Chairman Robert Dole warned his party's regulars of "over from the rear of the pack to capture his party's nomination however, he felt Nixon was in "a very strong position."

Dole was interviewed Sunday on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

McGovern spent the weekend at his Washington home resting from the grueling primary campaign that saw him move from the rear of the pack to capture his party's nomination in Miami Beach last week. He flew today to the Black Hills of South Dakota for two weeks at the rustic Sylvan Lodge near Custer. His schedule called for nothing but rest and recreation the first week, but aides said staff meetings on campaign strategy would begin the second week.

In Miami Sunday, a convention of People's Party members from eight southern states voted to support McGovern rather than People's Party candidate Dr. Benjamin Spock. Robert Kunst, a party spokesman, said the regional meeting took the action "because we want to defeat Nixon. That is the major aim."

Eagleton Discusses Amnesty

WASHINGTON (AP)—As there is no basic difference on president, Senator George McGovern would grant amnesty on a case-by-case basis and limit it to draft resisters, his Democratic running mate says.

Senator Thomas F. Eagleton, picked by McGovern Thursday as the Democratic party's vice presidential candidate, also predicted higher taxes by 1974. And he said there will be no mass defections of leading party figures to the Republicans.

The Missouri Democrat said acknowledged McGovern's 000-per-person income redistribution program is being substantially reworked.

—Said that, if elected, he expects to specialize in law and order and urban affairs.

—Called Vice President Spiro Agnew "Nixon's hatchet man" and added "it seems to be his role to go around and try to divide the nation."

—Declared McGovern's $1

man would grant automatic amnesty to deserters and both U.S. troops were withdrawn from Indochina. These forces might be reduced gradually later, he said.

—Said he believes the Vietnam war would not be ended as long as South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu is in office.

Evaluation of F14... 43 Major Flaws Found

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy found 43 major flaws in test models of its new F14 fighter plane during a preliminary evaluation late last year, according to congressional testimony made public today.

Sixteen of those deficiencies related to safety.

The Navy told a House Appropriations subcommittee that "corrective action is under way" and that a majority of the repaired aircraft would be ready for testing this summer.

This testimony, which also reported 75 minor problems with the F14, came during closed-door budget hearings last April.

An F14 crashed into Chesapeake Bay June 30, killing its civilian test pilot. Navy sources said divers still are recovering pieces of the plane and that cause of the crash has not yet been determined.

The specific problems detected during evaluation flights by Navy pilots last November and December were referred to only sketchily in the April report to the House subcommittee.

But testimony by senior admirals under questioning indicated deficiencies involved engines stalling, difficulty in re-
